COATING INSPECTIONS: Hands-on Workshop/ Funshop

THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 2010
Mare Island, Vallejo
4:00—8:00 P.M.

COATING INSPECTIONS: Hands-on Workshop/Funshop

JUNE 17, 2010—Mare Island, Vallejo, CA

We are going to set up and monitor ten different Inspection Stations that will help you build on your knowledge of how to properly identify and test the surface conditions on steel and concrete—which will, in turn, guide you in how to approach your job and properly inspect surfaces during and after application of coatings.

SSPC exists to improve the education of its members and to promote the coatings industry. The Chapter wants to build the camaraderie of its membership through useful, user-friendly programs.

The Chapter is interested in the education of our future workforce and has extended an invitation to students in the local Painter Apprenticeship Programs to attend this meeting as guests of SSPC.

For dinner we will transport ourselves to the Mare Island Historic Museum located just up the street—directions to walk or ride will be given after the program. Built in 1855 and a former pipe shop until 1984 it is filled with fascinating artifacts.

Mare Island is the oldest Naval Base on the West Coast dating back to 1850

THE INSPECTION STATIONS WILL CONSIST OF:

- Ambient Conditions
- Measuring Surface Profile
- Surface Cleanliness:
 - Visual Standards
 - Chemical & Chlorides
 - Hedon SSM Soluble Salt Meter
- DFT Gauges for Steel
- Ultrasonic DFT & WFT Gauges for Concrete
- Destructive Testing and Adhesion gauges
- Low and High Voltage Holiday Detectors
- NEW! "Industrial Wii", a Virtual Spray Machine on loan from SSPC

"BE OUR GUEST POLICY"

SSPC strives to bring together: applicators, owners, engineers, manufacturers, architects for sharing expertise and education in the industry. The Chapter invites Facility Owners, Engineers and Architects to be "our guest" at this event.
