Evaluating Coatings in the 21st Century

Join us for a discussion of how various testing equipment and methods will be used to determine coating performance in corrosive environments in the future:

- How corrosion science is used to evaluate corrosion under paint films using electrical impedance and noise reduction technology;
- Using these new technologies to more accurately predict coating performance and service life in a wide variety of corrosive environments.

Guest speaker: Brian Skerry, Director of Corrosion Sciences, has a PhD in corrosion science and electro chemistry and has been with Sherwin Williams since 1984. He manages the corrosion science lab in Cleveland, OH.

Program Chair: Jim Lisa, Sherwin Williams
Chapter Chair: Ron Robison, Redwood Painting Co. Inc.
